HOW LONG BEFORE U. S. NEWSPAPER PRICE WILL BE RAISED BY PUBLISHERS?

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]
London, July 12.—Penny (2 cents) newspapers have been advanced a half cent (1 cent) and halfpenny papers to one penny in large numbers of towns outside of London. This was found necessary because of the increased price of print-paper and materials. A number of these provincial papers have been forced to suspend publication for the same reason.

SURPRISE PARTY FOR STRANDED CHILDREN

Ten Fresh Air Youngsters Miss Train to Footville and Are Entertained at Main Street Home. By Mrs. Abbie Helms.

There was a surprise party held at a Main Street home yesterday when eight little folks were entertained at an impromptu luncheon. It was a surprise, because neither hostess nor guests were expecting the event, but it was nevertheless a merry affair. There were four little boys and four girls who came with the group from Chicago, in charge of Miss Eleanor King. It was expected that they could be transferred immediately to the station to the other depot and go on to Footville, where they were to be entertained on two farms. But the gay sighs of the station proved to be too bewildering and they were only rounded up and conveyed to the other depot to find the train gone. So the aforesaid luncheon came to the rescue and took the small group home to be washed and fed and sent on their way rejoicing. Hammocks and the music of the phonograph helped to pass the time until mess call was sounded. And then it was an inspiring thing to see young America fall to and do its duty. Baskets of sandwiches and tumbler of fruit punch, flanked by a substantial viands disappeared with a substantial celerity. When the driver appeared with a fresh set and a span of prancing horses they were quite refreshed and ready for their ten mile drive.

The fifty children who made up the bunch sent yesterday by the United Charities to the city, looked sorely in need of the outing. They had the business and city palor which so many of the transient children of the congested district acquire. The poor food and the glaring heat of the pavements, together with the bad air of crowded quarters, enfeebles their vitality and makes them an easy prey to disease. It is to neutralize the effect of these conditions that this two weeks' outing is planned for them. They range in age from five to twelve. The rest of the fifty being in the party, one cute little tot of five, with tightly curling hair, by the name of Lucy was inclined to be "homesick" and wanted to go home. But she was consoled with a box of goodies for her own and went off quite happily with her hostess. It takes a very long day at the public dispensary at Forty-seventh street ready to start at quarter before six a. m. They came from the stockyards district mostly, and are gathered together by committees from the House and the Chicago Commons.

During this present week a large group of youngsters are being cared for at Elwood, Indiana. The girls of the high school and the hostesses and have made the arrangements for their care and entertainment during the fortnight.

WATER IN RIVER IS AT LOW STAGE

Reaches Lowest Mark of Season.—Launch Owners Remove Large Stump from Course.

Rock river is now lower than it has been at any time this year. In fact, it is nearly three feet lower than it was last year at this time. The morning the gauge registered two-tenths of a foot below the government mark, while last year at this date the water was twenty-eight and one-tenth of a foot above the established mark. Steam power is now being used by the electric company to generate the electricity.

This morning workmen of the electric company were busy placing new flash boards on the dam. When this work is completed the water line will be raised so as to enable the electric company to get better power. Both the Indian Ford and Fulton dams are being repaired by the electric company, as they were damaged somewhat by the high waters this spring.

The low water has made all the stumps in parts of the river north of the city plainly visible, which enables boat owners to navigate with less trouble. Monday evening a large stump weighing nearly two tons was pulled from the river and landed on the shore by members of the launch club. This stump was located about two miles up the stream and had been giving trouble to many of the launches. The boat club have placed white buoys along the dangerous places and where extreme light houses have been constructed. Most of the launch owners have taken heed and placed lights on their boats after dark.

HOLD FIRST GAME IN PLAYGROUND LEAGUE

Webster Playground Team Defeats Adams Nine in One-Sided Contest.—Second Game This Afternoon.

In the initial contest of the playground baseball league the Webster school nine won from the Adams school by the score of 43 to 13. The game was one-sided throughout. Moore, pitching for the losers, was in good form and would have won the game if he had been given any support. The fourth way team hit the ball hard at times, but were the main cause of their victory. Buell, pitching for the winners, was the star of the game, twirling in excellent fashion, and in addition he slammed the ball for two home runs.

This afternoon the Washington and the Jefferson school teams met at the Jefferson school grounds. Interest was running high as to the result. The Washington team was a strong contender for the championship along with the Webster. In spite of their overwhelming defeat, the Adams team, twice winner of the banner, is working hard to keep the coveted honor.

Thursday afternoon the children from the Webster school ground will take a hike up the river to Crystal Springs to spend the day. The start will be made at nine in the morning. The children taking their dinner and returning before six in the evening. About a half a dozen children are planning to make the trip. Directors of the other play grounds will take the children of hikes within the next week or two. Supervisor Curtis will make the trip up the river to insure the safety of those who attend.

K. OF C. TO ARRANGE FOR ANNUAL OUTING

Janesville Council Meets Tomorrow Night to Arrange for Picnic.—May Celebrate Columbus Day.

CANDY AND FLOWERS SHOWERED ON BOYS ON WAY TO BORDER

First Regiment Arrives at San Antonio After Long Trip Punctuated by Ovals at Stations En Route.

The first regiment, Wisconsin National Guards, arrived Tuesday at San Antonio after a long journey from Camp Douglas which was punctuated by rousing ovations given at various stations along the route. The boys were showered with gifts of candy, flowers and magazines which served to relieve the monotony of the trip. Russell S. Agnew, of Company G, writes entertainingly of the journey: On First Division First Wisconsin Troop Train, Monday, July 10.—To Janesville Gazette and friends:—

"We broke camp Friday afternoon and slept in our dog tents Friday night. Saturday morning we cleaned up the camp grounds, and then fell in and marched to the train. We were given a grand send off by the Second and Third regiments. (Just a minute, the duster to the next car and pass the Canadian river and it's all dry.)

Reception at Madison. "We left Camp Douglas about ten-thirty a. m. and all the way down we were given a big send off. When we reached Madison it was a surprise. The whole city was at the depot. Everyone had packages of eats for the boys of Company G. I have been eating chicken all the way down.

"Sunday we had two hours off at Marquette, Mo., and the boys were in town buying things to eat and smoke. Every one is giving the girls his address as he goes through town. Last night we pulled in at Emporia, Kas., and the people at the depot gave us papers, books, candy and flowers.

"The crops in this country look fine but the homes are not as good as the farms in Wisconsin. This country is full of negroes and Mexicans. The cars are divided, one end for negroes and the other for whites, and the whites are fitted out the same way. This morning we pulled in at Purcell, Okla., and were there for about an hour and a half. Girls were giving us candy and pop. I received a copy of Collier's Weekly and some flowers. Our next stop will be Gainesville, Tex., where we will water the stock. All the water tanks and so forth. We expect to arrive in San Antonio on Tuesday.

"We have the honor of having the headquarters staff with us. Brigadier General Richardson is on our train. Every one is in good health and happy. We have the medical corps with us and the doctors go through the train to see if any one is sick. The train is composed of twenty cars, first the stock, then the supply cars, then six troop cars, one cook car, then five troop cars, and the officers' car.

"Yesterday young Oas of Janesville, who is Major's orderly, took the Major's horse for a ride when we were in Marquette, and he came near getting pinched for hitching his horse to the fire plug. The people are so slow down here, that I had a job dishing out ice cream in one of the candy stores.

"The boys all say they wish they were back in the yards at South Janesville. Every one is pleased at the review people they received from the Janesville people. Both to be followed by a lot of my friends and say goodbye to them.

"Janesville is not sending a company to the front but it is well represented as Company G has three Janesville boys, and Company L of Beloit has three or four.

"Yesterday we had church on the train and it was fine. We hear that when we get in San Antonio we will get a march of about twenty miles to Fort. Houston. With regards to all my Janesville friends, I remain, Yours respectfully, Russell S. Agnew.

Co. G, 1st Wisconsin Infantry, San Antonio, Tex. Arrive at San Antonio.

San Antonio, Texas, July 12.—The First Wisconsin Infantry arrived here on Tuesday in three sections, one battalion each. The machine gun company accompanied the second battalion, and the supply company, field hospital and medical staff arrived with the first battalion.

The first battalion of the First regiment was one of the first to arrive at their new camp. It is made up of companies from the south and west of the state, including those from Beloit, Whitewater, Monroe and Madison. Their train arrived in camp at three o'clock in the afternoon. Officers of Troop A and Battery H met the infantry at the train. Troop and artillerymen waited in the field and cheered as the doughboys marched by. The men made a fine impression and are fully equipped. They made many other national guard companies look shabby. First army trucks carried the equipment. Tents were pitched in two hours. Officers reported all men well. Troop A had a horse and skirmish drill during the morning. Battery H had morning and afternoon to train horses. Monday night United States engineers illuminated the camp with rockets and searchlights. Horse-breaking continues to constitute the bulk of the work for the men and the battery's black platoon is going out for its first drill.

BOOKS FOR SUMMER LISTED AT LIBRARY

Miss Egan, Librarian, Has Tabulated Best Reading Matter for Hot Summer Months.

Janesville people will be pleased to learn that the public library has recently added to its list of books some excellent new fiction, also works of non-fiction not too heavy for a summer's day perusal or for vacation periods.

"Pleasures and Palaces" by Princess Lazarovich-Hrebellanovitch, interesting reminiscences of days spent in Europe during the Victorian era, stage experience, and the life of men and women of note in the court and aristocratic life of that day. The writer, Miss Eleanor Calhoun of California, a grand-niece of John C. Calhoun, won for herself in Europe unusual distinction as an actress. She was during her sojourn in England, a very intimate friend of Mrs. James Russell Lowell. Mr. Lowell being at that time an American ambassador. Later Miss Calhoun married Prince Lazarovich-Hrebellanovitch of Serbia. Her memoirs are written in an attractive style and many illustrations add to the reader's interest.

Nights, by Elizabeth Robins Pennell, entertaining and instructive reminiscences of nights devoted to social pleasures in Rome and Venice in the cultured eighties, and London and Paris in the flicking nineties.

Among the list of books are: My Lady's Dress, Knoblauch; Lodges in the Wilderness, Scully; From Pillar to Post, Bangs; South Americans, Koebel; History of the Modern World, Izard; College and the Future, Rice; Story of Canada Blackie, Field; My Adventures as a Spy, Baden-Powell; Autobiography of Blackhawk; Corns and Mittens Ways of Woman, Tarbell; House Furnishing and Decor, McClure; Charles Francis Adams, an Autobiography; Our Early Wild Flowers, Keeler; New Zealand, Reeves; Cyclopaedia of American Government, Hart; New novels by Prouty, Tompkins, Green, Gilman, Kellerman, Richmond, Miller-Crittenden, Spearman, etc.

CITY'S HEALTH EXCELLENT; ONE DISEASE CARD UP

But a single health department warning card is in use in Janesville at the present time. This is a heartier fever sign and expectations of Dr. B. Buckmaster this morning were that it would be removed on Saturday. The health officer reported that no case of infantile paralysis was in the city. Physicians are compelled to notify the health department immediately upon the discovery of any instance of the baby plague.

ENGLAND CYCLING NOW; MOTOR SCARCITY CAUSE

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]
London, July 12.—The war has caused a distinct revival of cycling in England. More bicycles are to be seen than at any time in the past twenty years. This cheapest of all sports is to a large extent taking the place of motor cars, which are gradually being given up for reasons of economy.

Women find that fashion of short, wide skirts and high boots is ideal for cycling. No sooner did the government's campaign against the use of motor cars for pleasure begin to bear fruit than all the veteran cyclists arranged a day of a day.

Bring Smiles

New Post Toasties were perfected to overcome the defects of old-style corn flakes. And the hearty welcome they have received is ample proof that their superiority is recognized.

New Post Toasties have a self-developed, inner-flavor—the rich flavor of choice Indian corn. Try a handful dry—they're mighty good that way; and the test will prove that, unlike common flakes, they do not depend on cream and sugar for their palatability.

New Post Toasties do not "chaff" in the package, and they don't mush down in cream like common "corn flakes." The New Post Toasties are identified by tiny bubbles on each flake—produced by the quick, intense heat of the new process of manufacture, which also develops their wonderful new flavor.

BLOOD-THIRSTY TURK WIPES OUT MILLIONS

THIRTY-EIGHT MILLION ARMENIANS KILLED SINCE TURKEY TOOK POSSESSION OF THEIR COUNTRY.

WOMEN ARE CRUCIFIED

One of Five, Still on Cross, Thrown into River—Dashed Against Side of Christian Battleship.

Editor's Note: A leader of Armenian thought in the United States who is associated with a western state college volunteers this reply to the signed statement of Dr. Ahmed Emin, Editor of the Constantinople Tanin, concerning Armenian atrocities charged against the Turks.

In requesting that his name be withheld the writer says: "I would prefer you not to use my real name as signed under the story. I am doing this in order to safeguard the three remnants of my immediate family of thirty-four, who are in Turkey at present. The rest were killed by the Turks within this last year."

(Special to the Gazette.)

New York, July 12.—"Revolutionary movement and open treason" have been the cause of the present plight of the Armenians in Asia Minor, according to Dr. Ahmed Emin, editor of the Constantinople Tanin, as set forth in his story "The Other Side," recently printed in the press of the United States.

When the Turks conquered Armenia 500 years ago there were 40,000 Armenians in that country. Today there are hardly 3,000,000 of them left over the world.

The 37,000,000 Armenians perished as the result of periodic, annual and daily massacres at the hands of the Turks. A fanatic may consider this the work of a "humane race"—the Turks—and indulge in pointing out the faults of other nations to justify the barbaric acts of his own.

The assassination of the Armenians in a historic impossibility. Even the Turkish practice of cutting the tongue of every Armenian when he failed to speak in Turkish did not make successful the assimilation policy of the Ottoman government.

By what sense of justice then does the Turk argue in favor of his own government as a giver of freedom of language? What does the gentleman mean by "freedom of community" if he does not wish to contradict flatly the facts of the Ottoman rulers?

Thirty thousand Armenians were massacred in Adana at the hands of the so-called Young-Turkish party in 1909, soon after the proclamation of the "constitutional government."

Five women were crucified. One of the bodies still on the cross, was thrown into the river and the blood-stained waves of the river washed it to where the Christian battleships were anchored.

To the mind of our critic this may be "absolute equality with the Turks."

Not long ago the government sent officials to "pacify" the Armenian children of the town of Zetun. Instead of injecting the vaccine syring they injected poison and

400 children died in one night. "If this is the work of a humane race what might be its brutal deeds?"

My own experience in the massacre of 1895 and 1896 are still fresh in my memory and it is necessary I can enumerate tales of horror which I heard and saw.

With all these cruel inflictions, instead of fostering revenge, the Armenian political party held the bloody hands of the Committee of Union and Progress saying that it is enough we are brothers; let us work for the welfare of the country.

The Armenian revolutionary movement was the child of persecutions at the hands of the Turkish government. When Armenia was changed to a place in Turkey in 1908 the revolutionary parties automatically became political parties.

Suppose that a few Armenians, or a group of them, had conspired against the government. Why were not those directly responsible punished? Did the United States deport and massacre the German population because of the alleged acts of a few members of that nationality? Did Great Britain put to the sword the Irish people—men, women and children—because of the press uprising?

Why, what logic can Turkey justify the burning, drowning, clubbing and killing in inconceivable ways of Armenian men, women and children because of the alleged participation of a few Armenians in treasonable acts?

When the war broke out the Armenian men of military age were sent to the front to dig trenches and other military work. They were finally distributed among the Turkish villages and killed. Who was it that rebelled? The old men, women and children?

The Armenian language belongs to the Indo-European while the Turkish is a mixture of Persian, Arabic and Turkish, which consists of about 500 words, religiously the Armenians are Christians. The Armenians are Mohammedans. Generally speaking there is social similarity between the majority of the people of the world. Parity in speaking the lines of social habits and the Armenian between the Turks and the Armenian.

The extermination policy of the Turks was followed even by Sultan Caliph Cancoy. It is as old as the Turkish empire. The disappearance of 92 per cent of the Armenian population and the attempts made by our critic to justify the unspeakable crime of the Turkish government shows that Dr. Ahmed Emin is a true knight of Mohammedan theology, which justifies the telling of a lie when it "averts evil from a Moslem."

JEFFRIS' CANDIDACY.

Recently the Milwaukee Sentinel, in commenting upon the campaign of Malcolm G. Jeffris of this city as a United States senatorial possibility, said that he is winning support and further commented upon his campaign by stating that "Mr. Jeffris' strong and undiluted American and republican talks are winning him supporters from the 'progressive' ranks."

"These men are 'progressive' republicans. Mr. La Follette has pretty openly cast off his republicanism. His personal whims aside, he has supported measures and policies that amount to a denial of his republicanism. He voted for the democratic tariff with its free trade features, and stands pat on his action. That of itself is enough to read him out of the republican party. He voted for the outrageous Philippine bill."

He has acted and voted against the republican party most of the time. It is never even nominally a republican, except when he is back in Wisconsin asking for re-election on the republican ticket, and he does that because he knows this is a republican state.

"But he does not represent it as such when he gets back to Washington. In point of fact, he is such an inveterate roll call absentee while at Washington that he does not represent the state at all for at least half of the time, though he doubtless takes full pay for the half time."

"So it is no wonder that so many Wisconsin 'progressives' who are republicans perceive the anomaly of such representation and are disposed to turn to this republican state of securing for this republican state a representation by a full pattern republican in the national senate."

"It is high time to relieve Wisconsin from the outside reproach and ridicule of political freakishness, wherein the state superseded Kansas, and which was so unpleasantly demonstrated in the unmerciful hazing of Mr. La Follette's candidacy at the republican national convention. The way was paved in 1914 by the voting down of the 'Wisconsin idea' crank amendments to the state constitution."

"The way to consummate that good work, and get Wisconsin out of the political joke book, is to turn down Mr. La Follette's request for another half vacation on full pay at Washington, and have him do a full time job. We shall then have a full time republican in the senate, and a man who will really cut a distinguished figure there and render the state and the nation some service."

THE CHAUTAUQUA.

Times past residents of Janesville who desired to attend a summer chautauqua must perforce journey to some of the cities adjacent where they were held. Sometimes they went for a week's camping so as not to miss any of the features, and other days they had but a few hours, after a long, tedious railway journey, to listen to the address of some speaker of prominence.

But times have changed. Now the chautauqua is brought to your own doors. After several successful seasons, as far as programs go, the Lincoln organization comes again to Janesville to bring here one of the most varied and excellent programs they have given for many years past. It is an opportunity for the tired citizens to refresh themselves with a varied form of entertainment which includes both band, instrumental and vocal music, and first-class talks by men upon subjects that are timely.

The gentlemen who have made this feature in the local life possible would appreciate if they were given the support of the citizens generally so that the success could be assured. It is not an easy task to engineer such an undertaking and it can only succeed if everyone interested puts their shoulder to the wheel and helps.

Instead of leaving Janesville to have these advantages they are brought here at a minimum cost that reaches the pocketbook of every individual without seriously cramping the spender. It is a civic matter and hundreds of families will avail themselves of the opportunities offered to spend delightful hours enjoying the varied programs which are as good as can be found anywhere.

COLLEGE DAYS.

The literary degrees distributed by colleges at their annual commencements, are in the main a recognition of useful work performed. They represent of course largely study rather than positive constructive achievement. The man who by special research has become a doctor of philosophy may in actual life be no much of a theorist to perform any useful civic or economic service. But usually it indicates a capacity for work and an intelligence which is very useful in the world.

The title thus secured from some institution of high standing is an honor one should be very proud of. But many colleges are very careless in the way they distribute these favors. There is a suspicion that any man who will "come across" with the price of a new dormitory can get them. The trouble is, that the less important a college is, the more freely it discharges these volleys of capital letters.

Originally the degree of bachelor of arts was sought only by those who desired to follow the profession of a teacher, or wished to live a life of scholastic investigation. If one of these ancient bookworms could see our modern bachelor of arts as he runs bases or hangs around the stage doors of theaters, he would be much astonished. The degree of doctor of divinity is handed around with a freedom that makes us a laughing stock in Europe.

Theoretically academic degrees may be contrary to the American spirit of opposition to titles. But practically no one quarrels with them if they are awarded on merit. The newer and wicker colleges should have greater care in their choice. To hand out these honors to pushing nobodies reflects on the institution that does it, and stamps it as a center of undiscriminating and mushy education.

SUMMER STOCKS.

Every merchant confronts in July the problem whether he will mark down his stock, or take chances on carrying it over another year. No store can get along without buying more goods than it can sell at regular prices. It must expect to have special sales or carry things over.

A good sale has value apart from the immediate proceeds of it. The people who came for a specially advertised bargain, who bought and saw the value they were getting, are a good asset to have. They will come again the next time any article they want is advertised, and will also make visits at other times.

The merchant can not well wait until late season before starting to work off his summer stock. A moderate reduction in July will move a lot of goods that could only be carried over on a big out later on.

A special sale is simply has to be advertised liberally in order to draw the crowd. A store can attract attention by regular use of a small space, and it will create its own regular customers without a big splurge if the advertising is done regularly. But to get the crowd and move a lot of goods the store has got to blow in a little. Otherwise it will seem to the public as if the thing was not genuine.

People have become used nowadays to the big advertisements in the large city papers of special sales. They look to the home merchants to do the same thing.

There is a psychology of the crowd. A well filled store is conducive to buying. If the aisles are filled, people believe that the sale is a real thing, and the bargains genuine, their over-caution disappears, and they buy what they want instead of waiting. No other way exists of starting the crowd but by a good big newspaper advertisement. It costs some money, and it brings some returns. It starts a business on a new level of prosperity.

After swallowing the bluffs put up by the people whom one meets at the summer resorts, one feels proud to have associated with persons having so much to do with the operation of this planet.

The student of scientific management, instead of turning a freezer minute in order to get five minutes' fun eating ice cream, persuades his wife to perform this task.

After interposing merely a cobweb between their shoulders and the breeze on a hot day, many women complain of the boorish men who don't wear heavy woolen coats and vests at table.

It is felt that the railroads of the United States are entitled to a lot of credit, as they hustled so hard to get cattle cars to transport the soldiers to the border.

You can't expect to get a warm welcome from your former townsmen at Old Home week, unless you have been at least indicted for violation of the anti-trust act.

The more of our soldiers get to the border, the more Carranza is likely to become too proud to fight.

Gilded finger nails are the fad now, and the girls that have them need only bracelets of five-dollar gold pieces to make their costume complete.

The college seniors compete strenuously for the honor of planting the ivy, but afterward they have to hire someone to come and water it.

On the Spur of the Moment

ROY K. MOULTON

ADVICE TO YOUNG LADIES
Before you give your answer, Look him up in Bradstreet, Look him up in Dun.

Marry one for love? Sure;
All young ladies do.
But while you are doing it,
Get the goods, too.

YOU KNOW THE OLD TUNES
I have heard a lot of single by the high-priced opey stars.
Who go "travelin'" round the country in their high-toned special cars. These here singers that are getting many thousands every night, And I ain't dead yet agin' 'em for some folks think they're all right.

I suppose expensive screenin' is the kind we ought to hear.
But it ain't the kind of singin' that is music to my ear.
Now, my kind, of course, ain't opey, but I'd surely call it grand.
Just to hear my mother warble once again old "Beulah Land."

I have paid my good five dollars just to get a ringside seat.
And to listen to the singin' which they say cannot be beat.
Guess I must be some old-fashioned, fer I didn't get a thrill.
Though I set right there a-squirmin' through the whole grand opey oil.

I don't like this tuneless music; it don't seem to get nowhere.
But keeps on perambulating round the land can't here and there.
I'm a rube and an old fogey, it is very plain to see,
But I song like "Annie Laurie" is the kind that just suits me.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES

According to the latest reports there are 75,000 preparations to make the hair come out, and they all make the hair come out, too.

ELECTING A PRESIDENT

8

Van Buren, Democrat, the Victor in 1836.

VAN BUREN.

A GAIN the Democratic candidate was chosen by a convention, but no platform was adopted this year. The National Republican or Whig party had three candidates. The election was on Nov. 8, and the vote, counted Feb. 8, 1837, was: Martin Van Buren of New York, 170; William H. Harrison of Ohio, 73; Hugh L. White of Tennessee, 28; Daniel Webster of Massachusetts, 14; Willie P. Mangum of North Carolina, 11. Richard M. Johnson of Kentucky was chosen vice president. Popular vote: Van Buren, 761,549; Harrison, 783,666.

In the election of 1840 William H. Harrison, a Whig, defeated Van Buren. John Tyler of Virginia was chosen vice president. In 1844 James K. Polk, Democrat, of Tennessee, defeated Henry Clay, Whig. George M. Dallas of Pennsylvania was chosen vice president.

The Daily Novelette

GETTING IN RIGHT.

Mother may I go in to bathe?
Yes, my darling daughter;
Dip your head in a marcel wave,
But don't fall in the water.

She was a conceited young thing, and, although she had allowed Winkle Cravat to call that afternoon she was treating him quite distant, for she had an idea that young men with red-cord chins were not good enough for her.

Just as the only thing Winkle Cravat could think of to say seemed to be something about going, he had a brilliant idea.

"Do you know, Miss Stinkins—haw—do you know I think the English way of spelling is better, you know, is so much superior to the American manner. Haw."

"Why, Mr. Cravat?" yawned the fair Eulalia Stinkins.

"Because—haw—having 'u' in it makes all the difference."

Miss Stinkins entire seven gimples showed at once.

"Oh, Mr. Cravat, how perfectly delightful! I had no idea you were so witty. Really I insist that you stay for dinner. I won't take no for a refusal! And I have no doubt," added the conceited young thing, that our dining room will appeal to you even more than our parlor."

"Just—haw—why—Miss Stinkins, if I may—haw—awsk—"

"Because—if you will pardon my apparently faulty grammar—I is in it twice."

And after that young Cravat had things all his own way.

A SOLOQUY

To mote or not to mote—that is the question
Whether it is nobler in the heart to suffer
And walk, or hike, or hire a horse and buggy,
Or to take up arms against a sea of troubles,
Of carburetors, oil pumps and tires that puncture,
Of gasoline that's boosted to the heavens,
Or is it best to walk and never know them,
Or travel in the hot and dusty tram
Thus not invited and thereby escaping
The heartache and the thousand
That cars are heir to? 'Tis a con summation, Perhaps, devoutly to be wished.

Member Chicago Association of Commerce a Chautauqua Speaker

THE business men of any community are constantly face to face with the problem of how to get the most out of organization. The Chautauqua is bringing this year a member of the Chicago Association of Commerce and an expert on business and community organization, Olin M. Caward.

"Every business man," he says, "asks the question, Why should he undertake to do more than the carrying on of his own little business?"

Mr. Caward illustrates this point. For example, the number of blossoms on the branch of an apple tree is far in excess of the number of apples which appear later. And why this apparent waste of flowers? Why should the sunshine which brings the fertile landscape into bloom shine also upon the desert? Is it not a waste?

The reason is, he says, that no possible chance to bear fruit might be neglected; that even the oasis in the desert might have a chance to refresh some weary traveler. The same thing applies to business. Every man, he believes, should join with his fellows, that he might not overlook the smallest chance of increasing his own business and of helping his fellow man.

Mr. Caward is a speaker of wide acquaintance and high standing. His views on matters pertaining to community growth and development are widely sought after. He will make two addresses at the Chautauqua, afternoon and night of the second day.

VIENNA DOCTOR'S INVENTION
MAKES BLIND MAN'S READING EASIER THAN FORMERLY

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Vienna, July 12.—Dr. Max Herz, a well known Vienna scientist, has invented a sort of combination of talking machine and telegraph which will enable the blind to "read" with far greater ease than the present cumbersome and costly Braille books.

The principle of the new device lies in the conveying of "Morse" or other telegraphic signs, to the blind through the sense of hearing. On the machine are placed small records, each of which may contain a whole story, written out in code.

To produce these records a further instrument composed of two Morse keys and electric sounders, is required; the sounders being connected with a needle which cuts into the prepared wax record. The records consist only of long and short sounds and they can be sold at extraordinarily low prices.

It is proposed through this medium to issue a daily newspaper for the blind.

NEWS NOTES from MOVIELAND
BY DAISY DEAN

Beverly Bayne.

Beverly Bayne is one of the most popular women in moving pictures. She was born in Minneapolis, Minn., on the 22nd of November, 1894. She received her education in Minneapolis, Philadelphia, and Chicago. Her early motion picture work was principally toward getting an education. Those who know her say she did very well in that respect.

While still a school girl, a friend of hers took her to Chicago. One of the directors attracted by her beauty and intelligence told her, if she would like to, to come out some day and pose for a picture. Did she want to? film plays is to star Irene.

Girls! Well, anyhow, she went, and was engaged almost immediately and played the lead in her first picture, "The Lean Shark." Miss Bayne is fond of dancing and outdoor sports of all kinds. She does considerable of her own dressmaking too, and altogether is a most attractive and charming young woman to meet. No, she is not married. Heaven knows how she has escaped this long.

ROBERT EDESON IN
"FATHERS OF MEN"

In "Fathers of Men," a forthcoming feature, Robert Edeson appears in a dual role, first as John Howland, a trapper, at the age of thirty-five, next as the same man twenty years later, and then, as Robert, his twenty-five year-old son of John Howland. As John Howland, his life is embittered when Blake, a trader, runs away with his wife while he is at a nearby hospital, leaving his son, treated for a spinal ailment. He vows vengeance, but it is not until twenty years later that he next meets his enemy.

This time it is under conditions favorable for his revenge, for he is him by the body of a murdered man, and, though he knows that Blake did not commit the murder, he succeeds in convincing him. Robert, in Howland's son, implores his father to halt this terrible thing, but Howland remains firm. When, in trying to escape, Blake is shot and killed, his three sons avenge their father's death by killing Howland. Robert sets out after them to settle his score, but after many thrilling adventures, in which the Blakes prove themselves his friends, the feud is peacefully ended.

Eulalie Jensen claims that the greatest mental rest possible is variety and intellectual effort. When on the stage she took up the study of botany as a foil to the immense amount of memory work she was forced to do. Higher mathematics, including botany, and after progressing through differential calculus and analytical geometry, the star has now taken to astronomy, or so she says.

Irene Castle is back from England where she visited the dancing aviator, to come out some day and pose for a picture. Did she want to? film plays is to star Irene.

MYERS ANNOUNCES
LEASE OF THEATRE
TO A CHICAGO MAN

Joseph M. Bransky, New Manager of Myers Theatre, Promises Dramatic Stars and Successes for Janesville.

With the opening of the theatrical season this fall Myers Theatre will be under new management. Peter L. Myers, owner and manager for more than twenty-five years, has leased the house to Joseph M. Bransky of Chicago, who will have entire charge of the theatre.

Mr. Bransky, in announcing his policy today, stated that the latter part of the week will be devoted to vaudeville entertainment, on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, leaving the early part of the week open for the best stage successes playing out of Chicago and New York. There will be no motion pictures except big feature films.

"I am desirous of giving Janesville the best productions and the finest vaudeville acts that it is possible for me to book," said Mr. Bransky. "I have the promise of the Shuberts, Klaw and Erlanger and James Wingfield that Janesville will be on the route of every first class star and success that travels. The city is most favorably situated to secure the cream of the attractions sent out from metropolitan centers and there is no reason why the theatre-going public should not be offered the best there is on the road."

Objectionable shows and low class entertainment will be shunned, according to the new manager, who announces his intention to present vaudeville acts and other shows which will meet the approval of women and children. "I want to give clean shows that the public will appreciate," said Mr. Bransky.

The theatre is now undergoing extensive alterations, which will be in progress for several weeks. The entire interior is being redecorated and will be most pleasing to the eye when it is finished. The lobby will be redecorated, a tile floor will be laid and the whole will present a most attractive appearance. No expense is being spared to make the theatre a model of beauty, comfort and cleanliness.

Mr. Bransky has had wide experience in the theatrical business and enjoys a high reputation with the leading managers in Chicago. He was a protégé of James McVicker, of the old McVicker's Theatre in Chicago, and has subsequently been associated with the Colonial Theatre, the La Salle Opera House and other successful theatres. He expects to locate in Janesville and will bring his family to this city to reside about October 1st. Associated with Mr. Bransky as assistant manager and treasurer will be Leo Kind, at present the treasurer of the Colonial Theatre, Chicago.

It is planned to have the formal opening of the theatre under its new management on some date early in September. However, if bookings can be secured, Mr. Bransky intends to present in August two feature motion picture films, "Ramona" and "Civilization," which are now having big runs at Chicago playhouses.

Among the innovations planned are young women ushers, a ticket collector, and a negro carriage man. Vaudeville entertainments will consist of five acts, with two shows every evening. Matinees will be offered on Saturdays and Sundays.

Mr. Myers' retirement as manager of the local playhouse ends a long term of service in the interests of the Janesville public, in which he has sought to cultivate popular entertainment of the best in drama and music. He has worked long and arduously and will continue to serve the interests of the community, co-operating with the present management to insure success.

RURAL MAIL CARRIER
HAS AUTO ACCIDENT

A. R. Gridley, one of the rural mail carriers leaving this city in the morning, has not been able to go to work the past two days on account of slight injuries received in an automobile accident that occurred the day before yesterday. The accident occurred in the vicinity of the Kennedy farm, located north of the city. It is reported that Gridley lost control of the machine when he struck a sandy road. The car struck a culvert and threw him out onto the ground, giving him a bad shaking. Today Mr. Gridley was reported to be feeling better and it is expected that he will be back on his route in a short time.

BOY SCOUTS REPORT
FINE TIME AT CAMP

Letter From Scout at Lake Koshkonong Camp Tells of First Day Experiences and First Night Pranks.

Evidently the Boy Scouts are having a fine time at their camp at Lake Koshkonong. This morning we received the following letter from one of them:

Dear Editor: Monday, July 10, the Boy Scouts started for their camping grounds at Lake Koshkonong. The first auto load arrived at Bier's Point about seven o'clock, and the truck at nine. They located their camp a short distance south of Pierce's Point. The tents were pitched satisfactorily, and a flag staff was also erected.

In the afternoon most of the scouts went swimming. About half past five the bugle called us to supper. Then after a camp cleaning, some went swimming and rowing. A small party went fishing.

Then the bugle called us to evening prayer. The bugler then called the fishing boats in and we tried to sleep but without success. At eleven o'clock a firecracker was fired, which started some fun. Small parties of scouts explored the tents armed with pillows and flashlights, and raided many of them. Very few of us went back to bed. The result of the raids were that one scout woke up to find his pants hanging on the flag pole and another found his on a mirror hanging ing in a tree, and another with his swimming suit in a tree.

Post Eleven Names: Eleven names were on the blacklist posted by the police department today. Of this number one was a voluntary application and plea that he be among those posted for the welfare of himself and family.

WOMAN'S PAGE

Marrying a Butterfly

The Gordons Discover Why the "Maid" Is Sick Again," asked Ralph in disgust, when informed that they would have to go to the hospital for dinner. "I am going to have Dr. Ellison come over and see what is the trouble."

"I think she has some strong medicine in her," said Ralph, taking a look at the bottle on the table. "There is a queer smell in the room. I wonder if she took opium." Ethel's tone was dispirited.

"Well, well, what she is taking, if she has to be in bed every week or so, we can get along better without her," said Ralph's dictum.

"I feel sorry for the poor woman," said Ethel, crying. "She has been in bed for so long."

"Well, I think it is time this thing was looked into," blurted out Ralph, frowning fiercely.

Dr. Ellison was eating dinner when they returned from the hospital. Ralph waited for his verdict before going back to the office.

The doctor had been in Mrs. Pearson's room but a few minutes when he came into the living room with a very disgusted look on his face.

"What is it?" asked Ralph, coming toward him.

"Drunk!"

"Just common, beastly drunk," was the disgusted answer. "I feel worse about it because I called your attention to the woman. She seemed so decent and capable."

"She did indeed and she is capable and a fine cook. This explains the divorce and the court giving her child to her husband. I thought it was strange when I heard about it, and remarked about it at the time."

"Ralph drew his brows together in a frown."

"Nothing can be done about it till she gets over her souze, I suppose," he continued after a pause.

"Oh, she will be perfectly harmless. She will sleep off by tomorrow morning and then you can send her away."

"I wonder where she gets the stuff and where she keeps it," Ralph started for the door. "Come on. Let's look for the supply and do away with that to keep her from getting more."

The heavy snoring continued while they searched her room. A large bottle of rum was found behind her trunk in the closet, and placed beyond her reach.

"It is strange that Mrs. Gordon did not suspect her," remarked the doctor. "You, of course, never came near enough to her to smell her breath."

"She did speak about the smell of drugs," suppose it never occurred to her that a woman could drink."

Ralph thought sadly that the doctor would not look for anything practical in Ethel if he knew her.

PHYSICAL VALUE OF UNIVERSAL MILITARY SERVICE.

General John J. Pershing, the distinguished United States Army Philippine officer, recently gave authoritative facts from our own history tending to show that any system of voluntary or limited military service is a failure from the military standpoint. He advocates universal service, a year of training for every able-bodied young man.

Nothing could be better for the physical welfare of our young men than compulsory military service. The discipline, the open air life, the inculcation of real patriotism and the reasons in hygiene, sanitation and organization which a young man gains from a year with the colors are bound to make him a better man. Under our old system of enlistment, the really ambitious youngster has little incentive to obtain this training. Our standing army has been so small that most of us have seldom if ever witnessed any regular army maneuvers and hence have no conception of the enlisted man's status. If the people generally were accustomed to seeing trained troops on the march or at drill there is every reason to believe that national pride and patriotism would rise to a considerably higher level than it has ever attained in America.

At the age of 20, or thereabouts, the average young man is likely to waste a year anyway. That is, we think most boys become either idlers, love-sick swains, poolroom regulars, mother's pets, or gangsters of one time or another, good or bad, at this time of life. It seems to be in a boy's nature to want adventure or change at the age of 20. Give it to him. Let him have a year with the colors. It will make a man of him. As General Pershing says, every citizen who expects the right of suffrage and liberty owes something to the government in return for these priceless privileges. He has a duty as well as a right, the duty to be prepared to defend his country against all its enemies, and nothing less than a year of military service will fit a man to do his duty in time of need.

We would like to see Congress enact a universal military service law tomorrow, requiring one full year of training from every able-bodied man. There is more democracy in France today than we can boast in America. A soldier learns to know and respect his comrades. Universal military service is a great leveller, it gets boys acquainted with other boys in the next block.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Why the Doctor's Lips Are Sealed.

Question—Why are the doctor's lips sealed? asked an unhappy woman whose boy has paid the usual penalty of ignorance and secrecy.

Answer—Ask the authorities who make our laws and determine what knowledge a boy should have. Ask the parents who fail to give their sons necessary instruction, or to send them to the family doctor for such instruction.

Salts By Another Name.

Question—Please state whether water taken mornings for constipation is injurious in any way to the stomach or bowels.

Answer—This water is a mineral aperient water, to which epsom and other salts are added. It is salts. We think salts bad remedy for habitual use, because salts by extracting water from the bowel wall rather severe process to institute every day.

Ray for Superfluous Hair.

Question—Will the X-ray permanently destroy superfluous hair? Is it a safe method of treatment?

Answer—It is efficient and safe in skilled hands.

Household Hints

CANNING AND PRESERVING.

To Scald Tomatoes to Can—Put on a gallon (or less) of water to boil. When boiling, drop in a few tomatoes for a second or two. Use perforated skimmer to take out and drop in cold water at once to stop scalding. Can soon scald a bushel or two. So much better than pouring boiling water over a quantity, as some scald too much others not enough. Have water boiling each time you drop four or five in.

Simple Home Remedies.

Hiccups may be almost instantly relieved by giving the patient ice cream. This treatment has been proven successful in a number of very severe cases. Sugar is just as good a piece of ice will do if you haven't the ice cream on hand.

THE TABLE.

Veal Ragout—Place piece of butter size of a walnut in a saucepan; add three finely chopped onions. Fry until brown, then add three sliced tomatoes. Wash a piece of veal desired size from the neck or breast and, without frying, put into saucepan, add two dried carrots, two tablespoons chopped parsley, salt and pepper to taste and one tablespoon sugar. Cover and stew two hours. This is a delicious dish for those who like light French cooking.

Elderberry Blossom Pancakes (Elderberry dish)—Wash blossoms carefully in a colander, drain. Take one egg beaten hard, one cup milk or water, one teaspoon sugar, flour to make thin batter, one teaspoon baking powder. Dip blossoms in batter and fry like any other pancakes. Delicious. Leave the blossoms like it is, just cut off stem. Each blossom makes one good-sized pancake.

Ripe Elderberry Pancakes—Use above recipe, only pick berries off stems, wash, put in butter, mix, fry the same. Either pancake can be eaten with jam, fresh berries or just plain. These are very healthful, good for blood and kidneys.

Creamed Raspberry Pie—Line one dish with good pastry and fill it three-quarters full of raspberries, leaving quarters empty. Cover with an upper crust, but rub the edge of this and of the lower crust with butter to prevent their sticking together. Make a cream of a cupful of hot milk thickened with a tablespoon of sugar; remove from fire and, when cool, whip the stiffened whites of three eggs. When the pie is done and is cold, lift off the upper crust and cover the raspberries with the cream. Replace the cover and sift powdered sugar over it.

Lemon Cake Pie—Grated rind and juice of one lemon, one cup milk, two eggs (just the yolks) beaten with sugar and milk and lemon and a piece of butter size of a walnut, two tablespoons of flour. Then beat the whites of the two eggs very stiff and dry with a pinch of salt, fold thoroughly into the other mixture, bake in a lower crust thirty-two minutes. The top will be like a sponge cake and the rest like pie.

Pie Helps—By adding a rounding tablespoon of minute tapioca to cherry or berry pie instead of flour, the pie will be greatly improved. All recipes for lemon pie call for lemon to be cooked with custard. By adding lemon last, after taking the custard off the stove, the pie will be much improved; a secret for the best lemon custard pie.

Cheese Custards—Four eggs, quarter pint milk, two tablespoons butter, three tablespoons grated cream cheese, salt, pepper, and red pepper. Beat up the eggs, add milk, butter, cheese, salt, pepper and red pepper; pour into some very small buttered molds in a sauce pan, allowing the water to come within half an inch of the top; simmer very gently until set. Cut some thin slices of bread and stamp them out in rounds a little larger than the molds. Put the butter into a frying pan and when quite hot fry the bread a golden color. Dish one custard on each, put a little grated cheese on the top of each and brown in hot oven. Serve with parsley or garden cress.

Cheap Angel Food—One rounded glass of flour, one glass granulated sugar, one glass milk scalded (not boiled), two teaspoons baking powder, whites of two eggs beaten stiff, one spoonful lemon essence. Sift flour, baking powder and sugar together four times, then add milk a little at a time till well mixed. Flavor and gently fold in beaten whites of eggs. Bake in moderate oven thirty minutes. Do not open oven door till cake has been in fifteen minutes.

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Letters may be addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am twenty-two years old. This summer I spent two weeks in another town with a friend. While there I fell in love with a bachelor about forty years old. He had me to believe that he loved me, too.

He gave me fine presents and I accepted them. When I went away he seemed to feel very badly and so did I. I asked him to write to me and he promised that he would. When I got home I wrote him and he did not answer. I thought something was wrong and so I wrote again. I wrote three times in all and then I wrote to my friend and asked her if she knew anything about the man. She wrote back that he is all right and seems to be well.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have only been married a month and my husband is not willing to consider my wishes. I have always been used to cats at home and I love them. Our big cat had kittens and my mother gave me one. It is a dear little black kitten and my husband won't let me keep it. I want it because it is nice to have around when I am home alone. Do you think he is unreasonable? What shall I do?

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a woman of thirty and I have been proposed to by a man three years younger than myself. He has remarkable talents, but he drinks a great deal. However, he seems to be a good man. I have a little money and I love him. Do you think I am risking my happiness if I accept him?

An interesting scrap-book is kept by a friend of mine. It is filled with pictures of people clipped from the magazines and newspapers. The subjects of these

and on the next a newspaper picture of a city official who has just taken office.

These pictures are saved not because the owner of the scrap-book has any interest in the originals, nor because of their intrinsic beauty, but because each of them represents a resemblance to someone whom she knows.

Some of these resemblances are friends' love to look the book over and pick out their friends, and better still themselves.

"Oh, Wad Some Power!" "I saw a picture in a magazine that looked a lot like you," said a woman on the street the other day who might have been your double. How often people say things like that to us. But when we ask to see the picture they can't remember where they saw it, and as for the person on the street, naturally he can't be produced. And so we still must look "the gift to see ourselves as others see us."

Don't you think such a scrap-book would be worth keeping? And now, while I'm on the general subject of pictures, here's another suggestion.

A girl who had just come back from a house party at camp showed me the pictures she had taken.

Small Group Pictures Are Seldom Good.

All the other house-party pictures that I have seen were groups. The faces were usually dimly lit, the poses unnatural and some of the likenesses bad.

There were only two groups. She had used the rest of her twelve exposures to take individual pictures of each member of the crowd in a characteristic pose.

One girl was sharpening the carving knife, a process at which she was particularly adept; another was reading on the veranda, evidently her favorite sport; a third was writing letters; one of the men was fishing; and another cranking his machine. The pictures were all interesting and characteristic.

Don't you think they will make a much more interesting page for the memory book than ordinary group pictures? I do.

The number of women employed by the Krupps has risen more than ten fold.

In August, 1914, just before the war broke out, the company's pay roll included $6,886 men and 1,214 women. At the end of April last these figures had risen to 55,949 men and 13,032 women.

But the Krupps, the "cannon queen," is credited with having realized an income from the works last year of more than $25,000,000.

"Yes, he has a hot temper," Abner was speaking at random in an effort to get his bearings. Never before had he felt his ingenuity put to such a bewildering test, and his hope of rescuing Howard was becoming less and less as he realized the safe ground Fulton now stood upon. Was it possible that the wits of a man of this low type could defeat his own?

"I'm going to quit drinkin', even for my health," Abner went on, the glare of a half insane man in his eyes. "You must 'a' thought I was a plumb idiot that night, an' I must 'a' been actually full of liquor."

"I didn't smell it on you, Abner. I was bothered about my boss an' the hard work me an' Mary have on our hands in the office. You can have no idea how awful it is to be in such a tight place as my'n here is."

"I remember a little bit of what I said—just sort of like a dream, you know, Mr. Daniel. I think maybe I talked about—about my cousin Susy Thomas an' her trouble. Bein' out of my head that way an' that bein' so much talk about—about Craig's bad reputation with women, I reckon I got the pore gal mixed up with him some way in my silly mind. But she had trouble like that, a young feller I knew about that used to run as bookman on the W. and A. road was the one that was to blame. He deserted her all right enough, an' run away somewhere. I must give the devil his due, an' Craig, with all that is said agin' him, can't be blamed with—without another feller's deeds."

"I see, I see," Abner said, helplessly. "But she died—she died out there, Mr. Daniel, but I am convinced that folks can't keep on doin' wrong, even if they try. The very laws of the universe are agin' it. Every day you pick up a paper an' read how some feller has toted crime on his soul for years an' years an' finally come forward of his own free will an' dumped it off in open confession. Abner, yore man is dead—passed on—'ain't she?"

"Yes," slowly drawled Fulton. "She died when I was a boy."

"She was a good woman, I'll be bound, Abner. Wasn't she?"

"Yes."

"Do you know what I think she is, Abner? She's somer's whar God's light is brighter 'n' it is here. Who knows, she may be able to come nigh you an' throw her holy influence about you? Bein' more like God than she was here on earth, she may have gloried in the pity you had for that pore cousin o' yore'n that was so weak an' ill treated. She may have thought that yore great wrath agin' Craig was beautiful and even divine. She may have felt that in doin' what you done you was an agent for good—for we know that God hisself condemns such creatures an' scourges 'em with the lash of conscience; but, Abner, Abner, listen to me. The spirit o' yore ma may be uneasy now, fer she sees you waverin' on the brink of a lastin' wrong. She sees you under the greatest temptation o' yore whole life, an' no doubt she's afraid you won't be strong enough to resist. She knows that you know an innocent young fellow is sufferin' fer some'n he never done, an' for all we know she may be standin' here at this minute pleadin' with you the best she kin not to take a false step. It may be her that's makin' me say this to you, Abner. It is fer you to decide. You kin walk straight ahead into God's light, or you kin stumble on into the devil's darkness."

"I see, I see," Abner said gently. "An' I reckon it was to straighten out all this that you was inquiren' about at the blacksmith's shop, Abner?"

"Yes, I thought I'd get it straightened out fer you an' had a talk."

"An' that's what you was lookin' for me tonight fer?" Abner led him on gently.

"Yes," Abner nodded. "I wanted you to have a plumb straight talk. I didn't see no use o' lettin' you believe what wasn't so."

Abner made no reply. Glancing a few yards ahead, he saw his wagon under a spreading beech at the roadside, and for some reason which he failed to make known he moved toward it. It was as if he had forgotten the presence of his companion. With a slow look of uneasy wonder Fulton followed.

"Yes, lots an' lots o' things p'int to Howard," Abner went on, almost in a tone of appeal. "I can't blame 'im, though, Mr. Daniel, fer Craig cussed 'im to his face several times, an' Howard always was high strung an' easy to get mad."

They reached the wagon, and Abner put his hand on the detachable spring seat. "Git 'round 'other side, Abner, an' he'll be down with it. I'm goin' to have a feller haul some stove wood from 'this mountain tomorrow, an' I don't want 'im to take this seat along. It fills up too much, considerin' that he's to be paid by the load."

Abner obeyed. He went around to the other side, and he and Abner lifted the seat over the wagon pole and put it against the trunk of the beech. "Let's set down awhile, Abner. I'm sorter tired," Abner said, with a little yawn, sinking upon the seat and crossing his slim legs. "Set down—set down, Abner."

Like an automaton Fulton complied, starting at the ground. Abner saw his knees trembling under their ragged coverings. The sight of the cowed desperate creature touched his heart, and a tone of real sympathy, that was not without effect on its object, filled his voice when he next spoke.

"This is a sad, sad old world, Abner," he began. "I've been in it a long time, an' I 'ain't seed much else but trouble on every hand. I wish I could be a good man, but I can't always manage it. I'll feel better tonight, though, if I make a clean breast to you about some'n I done. You may think it is a small matter, but it ain't to me. I actually lied to you 'other night. I intimated I thought Howard was guilty, in tryin' to do a little good—in tryin' to find some way to help that pore stricken boy an' his heartbroken mammy. I dropped into my old tricky way o' talkin' that I acquired when I was younger an' traded a lot with even fellers that had no conscience an' killed what little I had. The truth is, Abner, that I was so anxious to find out if you could throw any light on the matter 'other night that I led out by accusin' Howard myself. I saw you was friendly to 'im, an' I knowed that 'ud set you to talkin', an' it did—you know it did."

Fulton laid his spaying hands on his knees to steady them, but he kept his eyes averted. "I didn't know you was feller 'n' me, Mr. Daniel, but I did after I thought it over," he said, huskily. "Then I seed yore hand, an' got ready for you. If you want the truth you may have it hot from my box, Mr. Daniel. I seed what you thought, but you 'ain't got a smidgen o' proof—not a smidgen agin' me. An' if I 'ain't cryin' to defend myself I now it is because I've got to. I know what you think, an' that's enough for me. I know you are one of the bestest men in the country, but I ain't goin' to let you bully me. If you had any proof you would throw the whole blame on me an' clear yore man, but you 'ain't got no proof—the proof all lies some'n's else."

"You are right, I 'ain't got no proof, Abner," Daniel returned sadly.

Daniel paused a moment.

"Well, Abner," he continued, "I'm here to say that I am convinced that folks can't keep on doin' wrong, even if they try. The very laws of the universe are agin' it. Every day you pick up a paper an' read how some feller has toted crime on his soul for years an' years an' finally come forward of his own free will an' dumped it off in open confession. Abner, yore man is dead—passed on—'ain't she?"

"Yes," slowly drawled Fulton. "She died when I was a boy."

"She was a good woman, I'll be bound, Abner. Wasn't she?"

"Yes."

"Do you know what I think she is, Abner? She's somer's whar God's light is brighter 'n' it is here. Who knows, she may be able to come nigh you an' throw her holy influence about you? They reached the wagon, and Abner put his hand on the detachable spring seat. "Git 'round 'other side, Abner, an' he'll be down with it. I'm goin' to need Howard Tinley in yore business. Look here, Abner Daniel! You know you 'ain't got a feller's weight o' proof agin' me. You are tryin' to bluff me."

Abner endeavored to stop nearer the man, but Fulton slunk farther away. "You let me alone, Abner Daniel," he muttered sulkily. "You stop doggin' me an' dingdoin' this thing at me. I ain't goin' to put up with it from you nor nobody else. 'Thar is a p'int you 'ain't thought about yet, an'

about 'im, an' I heard 'im groanin' like he was in torment."

"Then—then what did he do?" Abner leaned forward, a look of tense eagerness on him as he spoke.

"Why, he started to go back," Pole replied. "He plunged into the cane-brake an' willows, an' I heard 'im thrashin' his way through the bushes at a great rate. I was about to crawl out an' slip after 'im when I seed 'im come back. He stood twistin' his hands over his head an' behin' his back, an' then all at once he fell flat on his all fours an' stuck his face right in the mire. Then, Uncle Abner, I heard 'im prayin'. I couldn't catch what he was sayin', fer it was mostly groans an' grunts, but I heard 'im callin' on God. I heard 'im sayin': 'God help me! God have mercy!'"

"You heard that, did you?" Abner exclaimed. "Are you sure you heard that?"

"Yes, but that was all, Uncle Abner, an' I've been mad at myself ever since fer not runnin' on some'n's worth while. I hate like rips to be beat in this thing."

Abner was silent for a moment, then he looked at Pole with a grateful smile. "I'm glad you watched 'im. When you come just now I had plumb lost hope myself, but I feel better now. Pole, the whole truth, proof an' all, is locked up in Abner Fulton's heart an' soul. I've been hopin' that I could stir up pity in 'im an' git 'im to do the right thing before God an' man, an' I've been workin' to that end, but he said some'n just now that made me lose faith in that plan. In fact, I was beginnin' to fear that his conscience was dead, but it ain't it ain't quite. Pole, a man killer that prays to God while his hands are wet with his victim's blood ain't hopeless. You didn't know it, but you've brought me the only news that could keep my hopes alive. Good night, Pole. I must go in."

"Good night, Uncle Abner. I'm due at home too. I ain't a prayin' man, but I feel like it sometimes—I feel like it when I hear a feller like you talk as you are doin' now. You are the best all round kin betwix this world and the next that I ever run across, an' if I ever git to heaven it will be by hangin' on to yore contrail."

Good Reason.

A woman from the city was spending the summer in a small town, and one day, while doing her marketing, she asked the butcher how he happened to choose his business. He hesitated a moment, and then, "Well, I don't know," he answered, "but I always was fond of animals."

BUT HOW WILL WE GET DOWN?
IT'S A MYSTERY TO ME

STAIR STEPS

There are two kinds of stair steps, those which go up and those which go down. There are about as many of one kind as there are of the other, and where you find one kind you can usually look around and find some of the other in the same vicinity. Stair steps are very gregarious.

Now and then a stair step gets off by itself, but it is not much use. They are more usually found in droves of from fifteen to several hundred. Like the bee, the stair step is efficient only in its relation to a social group.

There is a great waste in stair steps. Most people find a superfluity of them wherever they go, and utilize only about one-half of the steps provided. Every alternate stair step could be done away with very well.

The chief competitors of stair steps are hills and elevators. You can get up high just as well by climbing a hill or riding in an elevator as you can by using stair steps. An elevator is a much straighter line between two points than either stair steps or a hill. Steps always take you a little bit out of the way—that is, they always angle about forty-five degrees. Circular stair steps are an exception to this rule; they take you directly where you want to go, but you are drunk when you get there and have forgotten what you came after. Stair steps require absolutely no attention except an occasional sweeping, while elevators have to be oiled.

"I actually don't know," Pole returned, "but it gave me an idea. I knowed I could kiver my tracks, an' so day before yesterday I went down that before he did an' hid myself as nigh the spot as I could with safety. I lay down flat in the brush an' waited fer him to come. It was a long wait an' not pleasant, fer the gants an' mosquitoes fairly clawed the meat off my bones, but after awhile I heard 'im a-comin'. The spot was mighty shady, an' I couldn't see his face good, but I heard 'im mumblin' some'n to hisself. Then he set in to swingin' his arms

Mrs. Jones was about to go away for a couple of weeks, and her husband said to her: "My dear, I want to ask you one favor before you go."

"What is it?" questioned Mrs. Jones.

"Don't try to put the house in order before you go," replied Jones.

"Why, it isn't hard work," continued Mrs. Jones.

"Perhaps not," replied Jones, "but think of the expense of telegraphing to you every time I want to find anything."

An amusing episode that occurred during a visit to Australia is related by Miss Margaret Anglin, the well-known actress. She had been playing Viola, Katherine and other Shakespearean heroines, but the time came to move on to a smaller city, and her manager was assailed by doubts. He proposed confining the repertory to modern plays. When she remonstrated he said: "They want to laugh."

"Then why not 'The Taming of the Shrew'?" Miss Anglin suggested. The manager hesitated, but finally he replied: "Oh, well, we'll try it; but we mustn't let them know who wrote it!"

"I had forgotten this incredible remark," says Miss Anglin, "until I arrived in the city to play, and there, to my horror, everywhere advertisements were displayed announcing blithely that Miss Anglin would appear in a comedy, 'The Taming of the Shrew,' by Immortal Bard!"

AVALON

Avalon, July 12.—Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Stewart of Chicago and Mr. and Mrs. C. Thomas and two little daughters of Beloit were guests over the Fourth of their mother, Mrs. J. C. Scott.

The young ladies who spent last week at Delavan Lake returned Sunday. They report a fine time, but their stay too short.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy B. Dean have returned from their honeymoon and are about settled in their new home here, which the groom built recently.

Miss Mary Cooper has returned from Detroit, Mich., where she has completed a course in physical training. She has been offered a position in Texas, which she contemplates accepting.

Several new autos have been purchased the forepart of the week in this vicinity by Lou Willis, B. P. Irish, J. W. McArthur and C. S. Boynton.

Mrs. A. D. Loomis is visiting relatives in Woodstock.

Mr. Dodge, Sr., has returned from a four weeks' visit at Geneva and Delavan Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. C. McCarthy of Janesville and Mr. and Mrs. A. Rokenbrodt and Clyde motored to Geneva and Delavan Lake Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Roby of Chicago are guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Clapper.

Ralph and Leslie Dodge spent the week end with their parents here.

C. J. Stoney and family have returned from a week's stay at Delavan Lake.

MADISON AND STOUGHTON INVITE LA FOLLETTE TO GIVE LABOR DAY ADDRESS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

Madison, Wis., July 12.—Senator R. M. La Follette has been invited by the labor unions of both Madison and Stoughton to make labor day speeches. While no definite word has been received from the senator, it is quite probable that he will accept both appointments, speaking in Stoughton in the morning and in Madison in the afternoon.

The first invitation came from the city of Madison, and since that time the men in the wagon shops at Stoughton have asked Senator La Follette to speak. Inasmuch as this will be the last day before the primaries, it is probable that the senator will have completed his regular speaking campaign and the La Follette managers here give the encouragement that the senator will accept both appointments.

THE GOLDEN EAGLE

LEVY'S

The buying public look forward to our sales with pleasure. They inspire confidence as our sales are always legitimately conducted.

ANNUAL JULY CLEARANCE SALE

Commences Thursday Morning, July 13th, at 8 O'clock

AFTER a very successful Spring and Summer season in keeping with the policy of this store, which is not to carry over any merchandise from one season to another, thus rendering it out of date and unsalable, we will hold our Annual July Clearance Sale of Summer Goods. Another reason for this sale is that we have a large stock of Fall and Winter Goods coming in and must make room for the same. These sufficient reasons for the tremendous price concessions we will make during the sale should convince the buying public that we desire to close out our SUMMER STOCK AT ANY COST.

If it were possible to take each and every one of our friends and customers into confidence and show them what each item cost and what it is absolutely worth we know it would not take but a mighty few days to knock out this entire summer stock, for the prices we quote you are absolutely the lowest that can be placed legitimately on HIGH GRADE SEASONABLE MERCHANDISE.

CALDOW REVAMPING CARDINAL LINE-UP

Janeville Team Manager Gets New Players for Game Sunday With Fast Elgin Team.

Elgin is the next team to meet the Janeville Cardinals. The game is scheduled to be played here at the Driving Park Sunday afternoon.

The Watch City team is fast and has taken the greater majority of games played this far. At the Racine home-coming and state convention of the Spanish War Veterans they defeated the Belle City nine by a small score, which showed them to be anything but amateurs since the Racine aggregation is the equal of any Milwaukee semi-pro organization.

A Cardinal line-up revamped almost from Alpha to Omega, will take the field Sunday afternoon. At least three new players have been secured by Manager Caldwell thus far. Two have already been signed. They are Thompson and Finn of the Lawnsdale, Chicago, Blues. Thompson is a second baseman and about as good as is to be seen among Chicago semi-pros. Finn is regarded just as classy. He is a shortstop.

The Cardinals have been woefully
lacking in speed at these two positions
this season. Blake has slowed up considerably since last season and he and Moss have to have lots of leeway to pull a double.

Manager Caldwell is after a third player from the Garden City team and is attempting to sign up a fourth from the Hoffman Premiers. Aside from a few Al runs on the team now, an entire new line-up will be seen on the field when the Beloit-Janeville series of a week from Saturday and Sunday are played.

DAN PATCH, PREMIER RACER, DIES OF ATHLETIC HEART

Dan Patch, the king of racers and the property of George W. Savage of Minneapolis, died of athletic heart at the Savage farm Tuesday, in 1916 Dan

Patch established the premier sulky record of the world when he went the mile in 1:55 on the St. Paul track.
Savage paid $50,000 for the horse. Several years ago he was withdrawn from racing, and since has been used for breeding purposes.

BOSTON TAKES TWO FROM SOX, 5-1; 3-1

Easterners Even Up Scores for Lacings of Previous Day—Another Twin Bill Today.

That White Sox-Red Sox teeter-totter
for third position teeter-tottered the Red Sox way yesterday. The White Sox fell off and the Red Sox took their place. Boston won both games of the twin bill, 5-3 and 3-1.

Rowland gave the "bean town"
boosters an opportunity of giving the cross start to throw his entire pitching staff. Danforth opened in the first and before he was through Mel Wolfgang, Jim Scott, Eddie Cih-co, Bob Russell, Joe Benz and old Ed Walsh had each taken turns. It was not because the Redlegs were hitting everything in sight, but because Rowlands and Carrigan were attempting a little strategy.

George Foster pitched for Boston in the first game and the Sox hit him freely. Their defense, however, was poor and constant errors permitted Boston to win after two men were down in the fourth, they getting four runs. The teams meet in another double-header today.

CHARLEY WHITE DEFEATS WELLS; MANAGER STOPS BOUT IN FIFTH ROUND

Charley White of Chicago badly defeated Matt Wells of England at Boston last night in the main bout of a show staged by the Armory Athletic association. The end came in the fifth round when White's manager jumped down on the ropes and laid down the sponge for the Briton. The Englishman was groggy. He had hit the floor three times.

Sport Snap Shots MORRIS MILLER

With the class of pitching the Boston Braves seem to depend on it will be funny if they don't get a good to-hold on the pennant. Radolph Tyler, Barnes, Hughes, Ruelbach and Nehi are all coming through with the best sort of ball in the most monotonous way and what other team among their competitors is able to show so much pitching class? What's more, did John Evers is back in the midst of things after a number of doubtful pervous disorders and he's playing his very best game. George Stallings
has expressed satisfaction at the trend.

stronger than the Miracle Man is getting ready to cop again.

Charley Harzog, of the Reds, has started somewhat with the women folks of his team. He recently announced that hereafter no player's wife shall accompany him when the small talk when they are alone and it gives the player too neat an ally when he turns in late. His wife just wouldn't come home and so on. Hereafter the wives may languish at home,
says Buck.

Something unusual in the way of an out happened not long ago in a Boston-Philly game when Fred Shod-grass was called out for "turning wrong" after passing first. He had singled and started to amble on to ward second when the ball was returned. Fred was tagged and because he hadn't gone back to touch
the bag the ump called him out.

A great deal of baseball for one afternoon was played in Pittsburg not long ago in a series with the Cubs when theirates took both games of a double header, the second game going to eighteen innings. Twenty-seven innings for one afternoon is quite a few.

Harold Crisp, one of Connie Mack's pitching recruits, is only seventeen years old. He pitched for a high school team in Boston and has some interesting records such as 75 strikeouts in three games.

You will find lots of American league pitchers who declare that American league batters are far ahead of those in the National league and that the National league pitchers would be in a sad fix if they had to earn a living in the American league. This dispute and others of the sort have aroused and excited pitchers of both leagues for some time. Recently the National league pitchers have been able to sneer at those in the American.
Fred Beebe, who pitched fair ball in the National league ten or fifteen years ago, returned to the game with the Cleveland Indians and in his first two games allowed only six hits. The National league pitchers claim this settles the argument.

Yankee fans are congratulating one another that Lee Magee seems to have struck stride and this is said to heighten the Yankee chances at the pennant. The Yanks paid a good price for Magee and if he hits his greatest stride and keeps at it he will be worth
things after a number of doubtful per-
vous disorders and he's playing his
very best game. George Stallings
has expressed satisfaction at the trend.

Among other things John McGraw shifted the Giant playing bench at the home grounds and it seemed to help break the slump. The trouble with baseball superstitions is that something usually does happen to ratify them and the next time everyone's all the more superstitious.

Maybe fight promoters have learned a lesson now after the Moran-Dillon fight not to offer guarantees. In fact not such large, fat ones. In spite of the fact that this was one of the most thoroughly advertised and discussed fights for some while and that fans showed a greater eagerness over it than any others for many a moon the promoters lost considerably on the proposition. Short no-decision encounters aren't likely to make anyone rich unless they are handled with unusual care.

The "birthday" of baseball was celebrated a week or so ago in the little village of Cooperstown, N. Y., where a special baseball commission appointed by the big leagues agreed some years ago that baseball first had its birth. Of course in real truth baseball was evolved rather than directly invented, but as well as records can trace, baseball closely resembling the present-day game was played in Cooperstown for the first time back in 1839.

CHICK EVANS NO LONGER A CONTENDER FOR GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

Seventeen years of amateur championships in the Western Golf association have seen the title returned to Chicago. Without an exception, some a player of that district has kept the championship cup within community ticket distance of the Windy City.
But there is strong likelihood of this title going elsewhere this year. Chick Evans, who does most of his practicing in Edgewater, says he is not going to defend his title in the tournament that will be held in July
on the Del Monte course in California. Pressure of business will not permit the trip, is the reason ascribed.

VISCOUNTESS SAYS NEW AUTOS MORE WELCOME THAN BABIES

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
London, July 12.—Babies refuse to come into a world full of automobiles,
for the simple reason that new automobiles usually are more welcome than new babies. Babies and autos don't go together. Muriel Viscountess Helmsley gives this explanation for the falling birth rate in England.
Autos, according to the viscountess,
create an appetite for amusement and,
as babies furnish little amusement, in
the twentieth century way of thinking,
they are considered an interference with the pleasures that the automobile affords.
"The lamentable decline in the birth rate is due to the selfishness of women.
They feel that with increasing family ties they may be unable to maintain their social status, while at the same time they might find their outdoor activities crippled. The craze for amusement has been a growing deterrent to family life, but with the limitation of gasoline supplies by the military and the partial suppression of automobiles,
the problem ought to adjust itself.

WARNEFORD, WHO FLEW TO DEATH WITH NEEDHAM TO HAVE MEMORIAL

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
London, July 12.—Fifty-eight Warnefords, from almost every corner of the world, have clubbed together to erect a memorial in Highworth church, Wilts, to Flight Lieut. Warneford who destroyed a Zeppelin, and who was later killed while flying with Henry Beach Needham, the American writer in France.
Rev. H. L. Warneford, after his

nephew's feat, realized that the deed was so striking and had been given such world-wide attention that on the strength of it, he might bring the widely scattered Warneford family together. He traced the family back to the year 745. It also traced members of the family to various corners of the earth with the result that Warneford's Zeppelin bomb has reunited the Warneford family.

SO HE STARTED HIS LETTER "DEAR KING" AND HE GOT JUST WHAT HE WANTED

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
London, July 12.—Addressing King George in a letter as "Dear King," a disgraced British "Tommy" found a way to get back into the army with neediness and dispatch. The soldier, whose name is withheld, was discharged with dishonor while serving in India. He later met a minister who talked him into reforming. An attempt to rejoin the army was fruitless because of his bad record. Then he penned a note to the king. An official tells the sequel to the story:
"After great gallantry in no man's land, in France, between the trenches
he died trying to save others."

ONE CARRANZA ENVOY IS AMBASSADOR TO THREE COUNTRIES

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
London, July 12.—Sanchez Ascona, Carranza's representative in Europe,
has put into effect a system of money-saving diplomacy.

been cordial.

The Motor Truck of Today

TEN years from now there may not be so much difference in motor trucks. But there is a big difference today—as every buyer discovers on investigation.

Naturally, a pleasure car chassis is not fitted for the strains of heavy loads and the bangs and jolts that a truck is necessarily subjected to. No part of a passenger car has any business in a motor truck. It can't stand the grind. And even though a truck is powerfully built and constructed throughout on commercial car lines, it can't withstand hard and continuous, day in—day out, service, if it is too complex.

Sterling trucks are built on strictly commercial lines all the way through.
Every part is carefully proportioned for strength. And over 300 parts have been eliminated in Sterling construction. The trouble is left out. Sterling Trucks are so simple and trouble-proof that any driver can handle them and get a full day's work out of them every day in the year.

Sterling Trucks are made up to capacities of 7 tons—a complete line of worm gear units from ¾ to 5 tons.

PUT TRUST IN STRANGERS

People Often Place Great Reliance on Fellow Mortals Whom They Do Not Know.

Taken acutely ill in the midst of a long journey, we accept the ministrations of a fellow-traveler whom we have never seen before, but who says that he is a physician, remarks a writer in the Atlantic.

Even the prescription given us by our family doctor is liable to be filled by an unknown compounding clerk, yet we swallow unquestioningly whatever he hands us in bottle or box.

We hail a passing cab to take us to our destination in the middle of the night, feeling no alarm lest the driver be in league with a gang of footpads.

We send our cash deposit to the bank by the hand of a messenger concerning whose virtues we have no guaranty beyond the fact that thus far we have not found him light-fingered.

We add our names to this and that petition, on the say-so of someone who may or may not, for all we are aware, have an ulterior and illegitimate interest in swelling his list; and we sign letters and other documents which we have only hurriedly skimmed over in their final draft, and in which our tired copyist may have embalmed an error fatal to our purpose.

Fundamental Differences. Goethe says: "With those who are really of like disposition with himself a man cannot long be at variance; he will always come to an agreement again." So the purpose to get to that like belief is the aim of controversy, if controversy has any aim at all. So if one man differs from another, he need not think that he can convince him by facts. He must first sound his disposition and find out what that amounts to, and keep on sounding until he finds a disposition or fundamental belief that is in accord with his own. He will be sure to find this at last, for in their divine import all souls are alike. One can always dig down to where he is a brother to his enemy. There is never a controversy that one will not find, when the litter, trash, refuse, trumpery are swept aside, an axiom, a self-evident truth, or a mutual aspiration that make the disputants one; and when that end is reached the controversy changes into each side trying to be more kindly disposed than the other.—Ohio State Journal.

Cervantes Versus Turks. Cervantes did his bit against the Turks at Lepanto in 1571. He was ill with fever at the time, but insisted on fighting, and he lost his arm in the battle. This was but one of the many exciting episodes of Cervantes' eventful life. Born in 1547, he led a wandering life for many years, ultimately becoming a soldier in the Italian army, and seeing active service at Navarino and Tunis. In 1575 he set out for Spain, but was captured by Barbary pirates and held for ransom for five years. When freed he tried to earn a living with his pen, but was unsuccessful, and in 1587 he found him engaged in gathering stores for the Armada. His unbusinesslike methods lost him this post, and until his death in 1616, he lived in extreme poverty, despite the great and immediate success of "Don Quixote," which he published in 1605.

It Never Dies. "This is an age of machinery. There's no romance in the world any more." "I don't know about that. Did you read about the couple who eloped in an aeroplane with the girl's father pursuing them in a dirigible balloon?"

HOLLOW SQUARE OF PRAIRIE SCHOONERS PROTECTS U. S. TROOPS

Just as the travelers in "prairie schooners" did in '49, when the western frontier was anything but a safe place for a white man, the soldiers of Uncle Sam in Mexico take no chances on a surprise attack that might mean their death and the destruction of the supplies they are taking from the border to General Pershing's base. The photo shows the automobile trucks that traverse the desert from Columbus, N. M., to Adilars have a substantial protection from which to meet the enemy.

The crossing at the intersection of North Fourth and Bluff streets is in a bad condition. The recent heavy rains have washed down a large quantity of sand, which has almost buried the crosswalks.

Yesterday afternoon some five hundred of our citizens gathered at the ball park to witness the game of ball between the Mutuals and the Dreadnaughts of Chicago. Score, Mutuals 13, Dreadnaughts 7.

Rev. Jonkin L. Jones will preach at Whitler's Glen next Sunday afternoon, the weather permitting, the subject being "Character."

Burt Helmstreet has been heard from. The news came in the shape of a basket of fine pickles sent to his father.

La Follette No Republican Says Jeffris

Senior Senator Supports Hughes
"With A Knife" Janesville
Man Charges at Madison Convention.

appeal to the populace. He has fought the battles of the people against entrenched wealth and power, and maintained the rights of invested capital against unjust assaults by inflated popular clamor. He knows that justice is no respecter of persons, but belongs equally to rich and poor, high and low; he recognizes no power too great to be above the law, and no citizen too humble to receive its full protection. That strong man of the hour is Hon. Charles E. Hughes of this United States.

"But a Republican president is not enough. Wisconsin is the birth state of the Republican party. That state surely, if any, should be represented by senators elected by Congressmen who believe in its principles and stand upon its national platform. I do not agree with his party when conscience bids him to do so. But if he is holding office, elected by the party and as its representative, we do deny him the right to continue to hold that office and misrepresent the opinions of those who elected him. No man is entitled to misrepresentation of his beliefs and his platform.

"Whom should we choose as our candidate for senator at the coming primary? Certainly one who votes with the party, not against it, upon this radical issue, and one who reflects and approves not criticism and condemnations, the national platform we have just adopted. A former republican convention called by the duly constituted state central committee furnished us with a candidate who fills the bill. We appeal to the great rank and file of the republican party who believe that no man can oppose the platform and principles of his party and at the same time claim upon the loyalty of its voters to do everything in their power to nominate at the coming primary as their candidate for United States senator a man who has just been elected to the Senate and for you, the Honorable Malcolm G. Jeffris of Janesville.

"This state is to be congratulated that in the present situation one man was found willing as a patriotic duty and at great personal inconvenience and sacrifice to take the bull by the horns, and I believe I speak the sentiments of an increasingly large number of the patriotic citizens of this state when I say that the state of Wisconsin has reason to be proud of the patriotic, fair-minded, efficient and disinterested service rendered to her by the state by our unflinching and untiring governor, Honorable Emmanuel L. Philipp. Inasmuch as this convention is called to nominate candidates for state offices and every republican whatever his views has been given an opportunity to attend and take part pursuant to the constitution and the state central committee it may hardly be in keeping with the position of your presiding officer to say this, but on the other hand why, because of this fact, should I omit to speak this simply truth?

"Finally, my good fellow republicans, on behalf of that great body of citizens who believe in Section 22, article 1, of our state constitution, which says:

"The blessings of free government can only be maintained by a firm adherence to justice, moderation, temperance and virtue, and by frequent recurrence to fundamental principles."

"I appeal to you to join in one united effort this fall to abolish personal and corporate special privileges and restore to the good people of Wisconsin."

Jeffris in Great Speech.
M. G. Jeffris of Janesville, candidate for the United States Senate, delivered a carefully prepared and calmly uttered word picture of Senator La Follette before the republican delegates.

Mr. Jeffris said at the outset that he had no quarrel with the senator, personally, but that he believed it his right as a candidate against Mr. La Follette and his duty as a man seeking the votes of the people to say why Mr. La Follette was not a republican and was not deserving of the votes of republicans.

Not Abuse Plain Criticism.
It is amusing to notice that the La Follette papers in referring to my campaign speeches, do not answer any of the statements I make, but assert that my speech is filled with abuse of Senator La Follette. I defy them to point to a single case where I have abused Mr. La Follette.

I have not called him a single name. I have criticized his political conduct. It is true I have devoted more time to him than I desire, but you must understand that until next September, I am running against Mr. La Follette. Some friends say I just advertise him. As an advertiser he is a past master and he has about thirty-six years the start of me and anything I may do would not add one jot. If I believed Mr. La Follette to be a republican, and a proper man to represent Wisconsin, there would be no occasion for me to be a candidate.

I am not running because I want an office, but because I honestly believe that the welfare of this state and nation demands Mr. La Follette's defeat, and it has simply fallen to my lot to be the candidate against him. I do not believe in him. I do not believe he is a Democrat. I do not believe that he has done, and is doing, a great injury to both parties. Some people are inclined to feel that an injury to a party is of small moment. That is not so. Political parties are necessary to the orderly conduct of governmental affairs. This fact is recognized by every true statesman throughout the world.

Welcomes Democratic Opposition.
I welcome the opposition of the Democratic party, and while speaking I may say some pretty severe things about the Democratic party, yet if it lay in my power, I would not be willing to destroy the Democratic party. The Democrats mean well and we have to confess on some things they are right. No one can be right upon all things at all times—that is reserved for Divinity, not for mere man. We thrash things out better by having opposition. There are millions of men in the Democratic party who are not whit just as good citizens as we Republicans are. I like to see the Democratic party well set up and in good working order. When I hear a Democrat speaker denouncing the Republican party I bring to me but a smile because I know that he is trying to enforce his Democratic arguments upon his audience. I feel no animosity towards him and I believe that is the general feeling of feeling in the Democratic party toward Republicanism. But when I hear a man who claims to be a Democrat, trying to knife the Democratic party, I have the same feeling of contempt for him that I have for a man who claims to be a Republican and attempts to knife the Republican party.

Mr. La Follette in Wisconsin has been a destructive force in both parties. He has been building a political machine in this state for many years and he has been able thereby to destroy the efficacy of both parties. It is important that we have two well set-up, well-defined political parties. This does not mean because a man was once a Republican he should always be a Republican, or because he was once a Democrat he should always be a Democrat—but it means that by that method the discussion of issues before the people can be carried out in such a way as to get at the merits of a question.

"Tory" Means Traitor.
Believing as I do, is my excuse for the criticism I make. To the La Follette followers I say, put your self in my mental attitude and tell me what you would say. I am broad enough to recognize your sincerity; you are broad enough to recognize mine, and to recognize that I say the things I do because I believe the welfare of this state and nation demands them. I will criticize, but not abuse. You know what in England and in America sometimes stand for very different meanings. We are Americans, and when a word is used we usually understand it in the American sense. Do not let any man fool you by telling you he is using an American word in some foreign sense. The word "billion" in England means a million million, the same word in the United States means one thousand million. The word "billion" in England means one thousand times greater in number than it does in the United States. The word "Tory" even in England was first applied to a political party as an epithet of contempt, but in America the word "Tory" stands for but one thing. It was the contemptuous term applied during the Revolutionary War to the people who stood against Americanism in that day. It stood for the people who were sympathetic with the British crown and against the American Colonists. It was substantially a synonym of the word "traitor". Benedict Arnold was a "Tory". Men who betrayed the American Colonies were "Tories". Men who opposed the advancement of civil liberty and self-government were "Tories". It is most slanderous and libelous to brand an American as a "Tory". The La Follette papers call me a "Tory". They mean it as a word of contempt and contumely and use it to create a prejudice. The Racine Call, edited by Mr. Goodland, the man who called the La Follette Convention in Madison recently and mislabeled it a "Conference" has in his paper called me a "vicious" and "vicious". Called me a "ranting, howling Tory" and a "reactionary wolf"—yet I must be careful who say for fear of preventing some follower of Mr. La Follette from opening his eyes. Open your eyes and see if I am a wolf.

You know the fable where the false shepherd cried, "Wolf! Wolf!" when there was no wolf. He lost his flock of sheep. You are losing yours because you will not look.

La Follette's Handbill.
Senator La Follette is publishing a political handbill called, "La Follette's Magazine," sold to the faithful. It is not a newspaper, not having a single item of news in it. It is sold so that the "faithful" may get the La Follette doctrine at their own expense. Mr. La Follette denounces "Big Business," but the American Telegraph and Telephone Company, the several hundred million dollar corporation which owns the telephone and telegraph system of the country, has more than a quarter page advertisement in La Follette's Magazine. He denounces "Big Business," but the American Tobacco Company has the whole of page thirteen and the whole of page sixteen; the American Tobacco Company, the greatest tobacco corporation in the world has ever known, branded by politicians generally as the most gigantic trust in the land, in the same class as Standard Oil and United States Steel. I am making no reflection upon the American Telegraph and Telephone Company, or upon the American Tobacco Company; but now, honestly, do you think the denunciation by Senator La Follette of the big interests of the country is sincere? Cocoa Cola has a quarter page—another one of our immense corporations. The American Tobacco Company has page thirteen; on page fourteen they had nothing to write about so that is filled with an advertisement of the magazine itself, telling the "faithful" that they are behind in their renewals; that they must not borrow their neighbor's copies. This magazine is free at all times to tell the truth about men and measures. On page one, "Big Business" is said to be at the bottom of all our preparedness feelings. In this magazine which stands against "Big Business" all other advertisements put together occupy less than two columns, in fact just a trifle over one column, while "Big Business" occupies more than two and one-half pages, or the equivalent of more than ten columns. "Big Business" occupies more than five times as all other advertisements put together, and part of the other is Pearson's Magazine, which is probably only an exchange advertisement. How long are the people going to swallow the assertions about "Big Business" when they find "Big Business" about the only support he has for his magazine? In his magazine, he says, "It is not a pleasant task to criticize the action of a political party to which one belongs," and then proceeds to tear the Republican National Convention, and its platform to pieces until not that statement must be judged in light of the fact that in the Senate he fought both President Roosevelt and President Taft, and has done nothing but fight the party for the last ten years, and if re-elected he will fight President Hughes.

Self-Styled Republican.
If Mr. La Follette belongs to the Republican party, he is the only one who recognizes the fact. He brands all of us as "Tories." The men who are trying to save the tax-payers of the state from having their property confiscated by tax-eating boards are "Tories." The men who are trying to save our American markets to the American laboring-man, merchant, farmer and manufacturer, are "Tories." The men who are trying to have America stand as the foremost nation of the world, as the home of liberty, equality and justice, are "Tories." The men who have been, or are, at Camp Douglas and are willing by the thousands to offer up their lives for the honor and welfare of this country, are branded as "Tories." Men who have allowed their sons to join the militia, are "Tories."

In his magazine he says, "The Tory Republicans were able to write the platform." It is a Tory platform written by Tories. In his magazine he speaks of obscuring the issues by the dust kicked up by the marchers in the parades of Big Business, or by the platform provision for a military and naval program so elastic as to cover the ever-expanding patriotism of the munition makers, who are for the Old Flag with an appropriation." He heaps insults upon the man who has a spark of patriotism in his bosom. He tells you that if you feel any stir of loyalty for the stars and stripes, that feeling is engendered in your breast by the munition makers. He tells Americans who choose to show that they stand for Americanism by marching in a parade, that they are driven thereto by "Big Business" and the "Munition Makers."

"Tories" For Preparedness.
I heard Bishop Fallows say recently in public, that he marched at the head of a hundred ministers of the gospel in the Preparedness Parade in Chicago, and he would like to have a man before him who said that he had done that at the behest of Munition Makers. Bishop Fallows said that he had fought in the Civil War for that flag, and although he might have introduced a man on the Campaign platform heretofore, he would like to have him present so that he could tell him what he thought of a man who charged that his feelings were aroused by Munition Makers.

If you wish to see this nation prepared to defend or enforce its rights—if you wish this nation to be one of the up-standing nations of the world, commanding respect of every nation on land and sea, of every "Tory" according to La Follette, and your feelings all come from Big Business and the Munition Makers. It is not patriotism that is stimulating you, it is Cocoa Cola and American Tobacco. It is not the call of the bugle you hear, it is just the tinkle of the American Telephone.

People think that I may speak harshly, but in this same La Follette magazine, I find a certain man called "unscrupulous, double-dealing and a thoroughly reactionary leader." There is a man of this country that everybody recognizes as one of the greatest men that America has ever produced, a man with world-wide fame, a man who is outspoken, a man to whom a good many were opposed because of his very outspokenness and vigor; but a man whose integrity has never been questioned, one whose stand upon any question has never been under cover. You may criticize his position as much as you choose, but you always know where he stands, and that man is Theodore Roosevelt, and yet the La Follette magazine calls him an "unscrupulous, double-dealing and thoroughly reactionary leader."

Supporter Hughes With Knife.
The Republican party of this country, with one accord, were rejoiced when Theodore Roosevelt, in the interests of harmony and for the welfare of this country came out in the support of the Republican ticket. Theodore Roosevelt is supporting Charles E. Hughes for the Presidency and he is doing it with his whole heart, yet he is branded by La Follette in his magazine as "unscrupulous," "double-dealing" and "reactionary."

La Follette says he is supporting Hughes—he is—with a knife. La Follette has nothing but criticism for the Republican party, he has fought it, he has voted against it in the Senate, he has done his utmost to defeat everybody but himself, and his own supporters, and yet they tell me that I must not do too harshly with him. Governor Hoard has said, "He has no purpose to serve except his own purely selfish purposes." He is not a Democrat. He has fought President Wilson in some of the most vital things. He knows the Democrats will not welcome him as a member of that party, as he does not stand for much of anything they stand for. He will not be a Democrat because Wisconsin is normally Republican and he has more show to serve his own selfish purposes to pose as a Republican.

Need Party of His Own.
If the Republican Convention and platform on which Charles E. Hughes is running, for the Presidency, is all rotten and our candidate for Vice-President is a "Tory" and the man who composed the National Convention was "Tories," one would think a man with La Follette's high ideals, would make a party of that kind. If that was the natural thing to do, Republican party I would leave it in a minute and become an ardent Democrat, that such a party as that might be defeated and wiped out of the political map. That is the natural thing to do, but La Follette, like the Old Man of the Sea, is sitting on the back of the Republican party of Wisconsin, and sticking a knife into it at every opportunity. He says the Republican platform on which Hughes stands is rotten; that the Democratic platform on which Wilson stands is rotten. You know Mr. Oliver at the Chicago Convention offered Mr. La Follette as the salvation of the Republican Party, at which twelve thousand "Tories" in the Coliseum let out one uproarious laugh. Why does not Mr. La Follette offer himself and his magazine, not for the salvation of the nation, but for the salvation of the position of the Republican party, and organize himself into a political party and make his magazine the official publication? I give you my word if he would do that I will not spend any time in commenting on him and I will not even mention him, but I mention him now because he is posing as a Republican candidate.

Scores War Referendum.
Mr. Jeffris declared that the La Follette proposition to hold a referendum on war did not rise to the dignity of a statesmanship which would regulate the height of women's skirts, the size of their corsets or the length of their hair.

He declared in referring to the democratic administration that President Wilson has not shown that sternness which is for the best interests of the country. He said that he did not believe the Mexican situation had been well handled but said we must all admit that was the situation which would tax the judgment of our ablest men.

Referring to the attitude of German-Americans in the present European war, he said:

"I believe that the American citizens of German descent have as a rule, at no time, entertained more than that natural, honorable, and just sympathy for the Fatherland which would be expected of every man to entertain for a country from which he was even remotely descended."

"An attempt is being made in this campaign to trade on the feelings of the German-Americans and I believe that will be resented in the same way by the German-Americans themselves. There will be an opportunity in this election for the German-Americans to show whether this is true and whether the declaration by President Wilson comes from the heart or whether it is a stringing together of mere meaningless words."

"Senator La Follette stands for an embargo upon munitions of war. This stand was against President Wilson and the position of the democratic party against the National Candidate Hughes and the position of the republican party; against Roosevelt and the position of the progressives; against international law and comity; against the position of Germany itself over the organization of the German empire; against anything even suggested by the German government; against the preparedness of this country to defend or enforce its rights; against the interests of the American workingman, farmer, merchant and manufacturer; against common sense."

He misjudged the Wisconsin German-American, or at least I believe in my heart that he did—but the vote at this election is going to show whether he, or I have misjudged them. He hoped to catch them with a trap, even thinking their intelligence. The German-Americans of Wisconsin may take their choice as to his motive and their choice will be evidenced by their vote in the September primaries."

CARRIES LOCK OF J. J. HILL'S HAIR
HE'S STILL A BARBER.
(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
St. Paul, Minn., July 12.—Oscar Roston, barber, carries around with him at all times a lock of the hair of James J. Hill, deceased railroad magnate and empire builder. Oscar struck hard for the first few years after he reached this country. Hill had been lucky and amassed about $300,000. Guided by the superstition that a lucky man's hair might help him, Oscar swiped one of Hill's locks while cutting his hair and has kept it ever since. Oscar is said to have America stand as the foremost nation of the world, as the home of liberty, equality and justice, are "Tories." The men who have been, or are, at Camp Douglas and are willing by the thousands to offer up their lives for the honor and welfare of this country, are branded as "Tories." Men who have allowed their sons to join the militia, are "Tories."

In his magazine he says, "The Tory Republicans were able to write the platform." It is a Tory platform written by Tories. In his magazine he speaks of obscuring the issues by the dust kicked up by the marchers in the parades of Big Business, or by the platform provision for a military and naval program so elastic as to cover the ever-expanding patriotism of the munition makers, who are for the Old Flag with an appropriation." He heaps insults upon the man who has a spark of patriotism in his bosom. He tells you that if you feel any stir of loyalty for the stars and stripes, that feeling is engendered in your breast by the munition makers. He tells Americans who choose to show that they stand for Americanism by marching in a parade, that they are driven thereto by "Big Business" and the "Munition Makers."

DRINK BEER FOR ENDURANCE

PHYSICAL endurance is one of the principal and deciding requisites in life. Proper food in conjunction with mild, stimulating beverages makes healthy men and women.

MODERATION—the Keynote to Longevity

Nature dictates Moderation, therefore what we drink should be of a moderate character—should possess digestive qualities to assist in building bodily endurance. While on the other hand, highly stimulating beverages very often retard digestion.

The universally accepted food beverage in America, because of its mildness—is BEER. In France it is Wine. In England—Ale. In Germany—Beer. In Russia—Vodka.

France and Germany do not prohibit—on the contrary—they encourage the use of mild beverages. Russia, since the beginning of the war, positively prohibits the use of alcoholic beverages. There's a reason.

France and Germany today are exhibiting most wonderful—almost superhuman strength and physical endurance. They partake moderately of mild stimulating beverages. They have proven their worth.

On the subject of Beer we have a direct quotation by Professor Adolf Cluss, Royal College, Vienna, Austria:

"Beer makes good the waste of human tissue due to excessive mental and physical activity"

This corroborates the assertion as above expressed, BUT—BEER TO SUIT YOUR INDIVIDUAL REQUIREMENTS, MUST BE CHOSEN FOR "QUALITY FIRST".

CARRIES LOCK OF J. J. HILL'S HAIR

The men who have been, or are, at Camp Douglas and are willing by the thousands to offer up their lives for the honor and welfare of this country, are branded as "Tories." Men who have allowed their sons to join the militia, are "Tories."

In his magazine he says, "The Tory Republicans were able to write the platform." It is a Tory platform written by Tories. In his magazine he speaks of obscuring the issues by the dust kicked up by the marchers in the parades of Big Business, or by the platform provision for a military and naval program so elastic as to cover the ever-expanding patriotism of the munition makers, who are for the Old Flag with an appropriation." He heaps insults upon the man who has a spark of patriotism in his bosom. He tells you that if you feel any stir of loyalty for the stars and stripes, that feeling is engendered in your breast by the munition makers. He tells Americans who choose to show that they stand for Americanism by marching in a parade, that they are driven thereto by "Big Business" and the "Munition Makers."

If you wish to see this nation prepared to defend or enforce its rights—if you wish this nation to be one of the up-standing nations of the world, commanding respect of every nation on land and sea, of every "Tory" according to La Follette, and your feelings all come from Big Business and the Munition Makers. It is not patriotism that is stimulating you, it is Cocoa Cola and American Tobacco. It is not the call of the bugle you hear, it is just the tinkle of the American Telephone.

People think that I may speak harshly, but in this same La Follette magazine, I find a certain man called "unscrupulous, double-dealing and a thoroughly reactionary leader." There is a man of this country that everybody recognizes as one of the greatest men that America has ever produced, a man with world-wide fame, a man who is outspoken, a man to whom a good many were opposed because of his very outspokenness and vigor; but a man whose integrity has never been questioned, one whose stand upon any question has never been under cover. You may criticize his position as much as you choose, but you always know where he stands, and that man is Theodore Roosevelt, and yet the La Follette magazine calls him an "unscrupulous, double-dealing and thoroughly reactionary leader."

Supporter Hughes With Knife.
The Republican party of this country, with one accord, were rejoiced when Theodore Roosevelt, in the interests of harmony and for the welfare of this country came out in the support of the Republican ticket. Theodore Roosevelt is supporting Charles E. Hughes for the Presidency and he is doing it with his whole heart, yet he is branded by La Follette in his magazine as "unscrupulous," "double-dealing" and "reactionary."

La Follette says he is supporting Hughes—he is—with a knife. La Follette has nothing but criticism for the Republican party, he has fought it, he has voted against it in the Senate, he has done his utmost to defeat everybody but himself, and his own supporters, and yet they tell me that I must not do too harshly with him. Governor Hoard has said, "He has no purpose to serve except his own purely selfish purposes." He is not a Democrat. He has fought President Wilson in some of the most vital things. He knows the Democrats will not welcome him as a member of that party, as he does not stand for much of anything they stand for. He will not be a Democrat because Wisconsin is normally Republican and he has more show to serve his own selfish purposes to pose as a Republican.

Need Party of His Own.
If the Republican Convention and platform on which Charles E. Hughes is running, for the Presidency, is all rotten and our candidate for Vice-President is a "Tory" and the man who composed the National Convention was "Tories," one would think a man with La Follette's high ideals, would make a party of that kind. If that was the natural thing to do, Republican party I would leave it in a minute and become an ardent Democrat, that such a party as that might be defeated and wiped out of the political map. That is the natural thing to do, but La Follette, like the Old Man of the Sea, is sitting on the back of the Republican party of Wisconsin, and sticking a knife into it at every opportunity. He says the Republican platform on which Hughes stands is rotten; that the Democratic platform on which Wilson stands is rotten. You know Mr. Oliver at the Chicago Convention offered Mr. La Follette as the salvation of the Republican Party, at which twelve thousand "Tories" in the Coliseum let out one uproarious laugh. Why does not Mr. La Follette offer himself and his magazine, not for the salvation of the nation, but for the salvation of the position of the Republican party, and organize himself into a political party and make his magazine the official publication? I give you my word if he would do that I will not spend any time in commenting on him and I will not even mention him, but I mention him now because he is posing as a Republican candidate.
